Regulations Governing Execution of Surety Company Bonds.

I. Proof of the execution of an instrument executed by a corporation, must be by acknowledgment of officer authorized to execute the same by the board of directors of the corporation. Such acknowledgment must be under oath showing genuineness of signature of each officer executing the bond and that the signatures were attached by order of the board of directors.

II. Appointment of resident officers or attorneys in fact, authorized to execute bonds, if made by board of directors, should be shown by certified copy of resolution making such appointments. If made by officers of company pursuant to resolution of board of directors, appointment may be shown by certified copy of such resolution, accompanied either,

(a) By original appointment, duly acknowledged, made pursuant to such resolution, or

(b) By copy of such original appointment, with copy of acknowledgment, certified by the secretary.

III. Contracts of guaranty of the performance of an undertaking of a principal, should bear even date with the date of the principal undertaking, and should be executed after and not before execution of the undertaking by the principal.

IV. The offices of vice-president, second vice-president, and resident vice-president, are three distinct officers. The offices of secretary, assistant secretary, acting secretary, resident secretary, and resident assistant secretary are five and not one. Papers should be executed and acknowledged by authorized officer in his/her own proper name and title.

V. To meet the requirements of the Insurance Law, bonds should be accompanied by sworn statement, showing the capital and surplus of the company. A statement showing the “surplus and undivided profits” in a lump sum, will not be accepted as a compliance with this rule.

VI. In determining the limitation of risk prescribed in the Insurance Law, personal bonds of indemnity to the surety company will not be considered.
